-Buying Control- Stock Credit Held

Reserve Board
Hikes Margin
Bar To 70%

Washington (P)—The Federal Reserve Board Monday tightened up on credit in the nation's stock markets by raising margin requirements to 70%.

Effective Tuesday, investors and traders will have to put up enough cash to cover 70% of the price of any securities they buy. Margin requirements had been 50% since last Jan. 16, meaning stock buyers could borrow half the money they put into the market.

A board spokesman said the purpose of the move was to prevent excessive use of credit in purchasing stocks and other securities. He said the board, in weighing its decision, considered only the credit situation and was not influenced by stock prices.

Heavy trading on the New York exchange has pushed average stock prices to a succession of 1958 high for more than a month. The market moved into new high ground again Monday.

Inflation

The pronounced market boom has been attributed to concern about the effect of continuing inflation and evidence that the recession may have hit bottom.

Stock markets had closed for the day when the Reserve Board made its announcement.

New York's Wall Street was not surprised by the move which had been rumored for weeks. A spokesman for Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, the nation's biggest brokerage house, said:

"The hike is a good thing. Normally, we are not in favor of constant regulation by government but the stock market has been going up pretty fast for some time now."

Speculators

Other brokers said a rising stock market generally attracts speculators like flies. Many of them operate on margin.

The Reserve Board spokesman said stock market credit rose more than 18% in the first half of 1958. However, he indicated the board might be more concerned about the effect of possible future credit expansion than in the historical record.

In recent weeks, the board has acted to keep credit on an even keel—neither loosening nor tightening it to any great extent. In boosting margin requirements, it made its first major move since the recession to clamp down on credit.

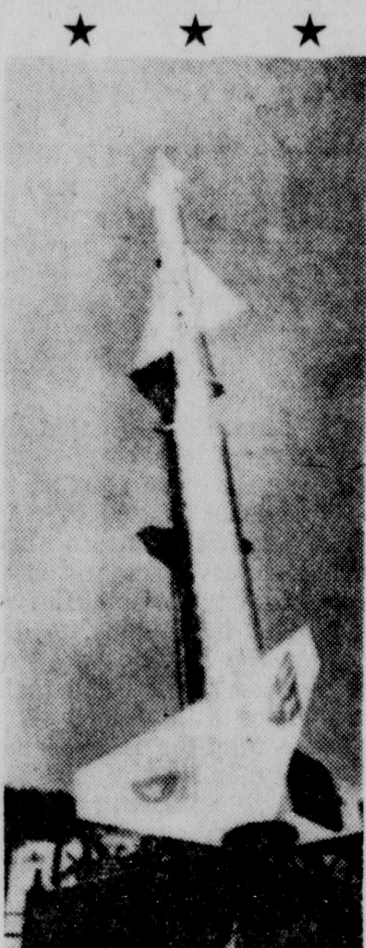

Goes To Prison

Landsberg, Germany (UPI)—Ferdinand Schoerner, the last field marshal named by Adolf Hitler, began serving a 4½-year prison term in Landsberg Penitentiary.

Schoerner, 67, was convicted last year on one count of manslaughter and two counts of attempted manslaughter. He was charged with having at least one of his own soldiers shot in the closing days of World War II when Hitler's armies were crumbling.

Inflation, And Moose Vs. Oil

Alaska's inflation problem and the competition between moose and oilmen for its rich land is probed today by noted author Burris Jenkins Jr., in his second of 6 articles on the new state. See Page 9.

386.7 Million Atom Projects Bill Signed

... Ike Calls Some Parts Undesirable

Washington (P)—President Eisenhower Monday signed a bill authorizing $386,700,000 for various atomic energy projects, but he said he may advise against going ahead with some of them.

In a statement announcing approval of the measure, the President called certain of its provisions undesirable.

He offered specific criticism of some of the projects authorized, and added:

"I feel obliged to urge the Congress to guard more vigilantly against the ever present tendency to burden the government with programs . . . the relative urgency and essentiality of which have not been solidly determined."

The President set forth these particular objections:

1. Noting that the bill authorizes 145 million dollars for an additional plutonium production reactor, Eisenhower said the Defense Department has advised him—and that he agrees—that necessity for more plutonium for military purposes has not been established.

Hanford, Wash.

The new plutonium reactor would be built at the Hanford, Wash., installation of the Atomic Energy Commission.

2. Eisenhower characterized as no less questionable a provision making the proposed plutonium reactor convertible for generation of electric power. He said that design would cost 25 million dollars more than a regular production reactor of comparable size, and that an extra 59 million dollars would be needed later to convert it for generation of approximately 300,000 electric kilowatts of power for eventual sale to the public.

3. He said the legislation limits in various ways the Atomic Energy Commission's management of atomic power development, as well as other public or private participation in the program.

4. As a specific example of such limitations, Eisenhower said the AEC's negotiations with industry for construction of a 51-million dollar gas-cooled power reactor are made subject to unduly restrictive time limits. He added those limits could force the government into an unavoidable capital investment of the 51 million and of large operating expenditures for years to come.

5. Eisenhower noted the bill authorizes construction of research facilities totaling 39 million dollars in addition to those he requested, as well as authorization for the design of 4 power reactors.

Unicam Comptroller To Be Recommended By Legislator

The chairman of the legislative study committee on cash funds and budgeting said Monday he will urge that the committee give serious consideration to recommending the establishment of a unicameral comptroller directly responsible to the Legislature and its Budget Committee.

Sen. Willard Waldo of De Witt, said he believes such a person, working in "close cooperation" with the budget director appointed by the governor, could "study in considerable detail" the budget requests and needs of all agencies of state government.

Noting that the Legislature is the governmental body responsible for appropriating funds for all agencies of state government, Sen. Waldo said the job of government financing "is an every day job—one can't just jump into it."

"Impossible Task" The DeWitt senator it's an "impossible task" for members of the Budget Committee "to become completely familiar with all requests and needs of all agencies of state government in the six months during which the Legislature is in session."

Waldo said, "I'm not opposed to spending money if it needs to be spent, but I think we must guard against money being spent unwisely by any agency of government."

A comptroller, he said, by "careful analysis" of the different agencies' needs, could "impart to the Budget Committee and the Legislature his views on what funds are needed and how wisely they are spent."

No Action Taken

The study committee discussed this possibility at its April meeting, but took no action on the proposal.

Under present Nebraska laws, the state tax commissioner, appointed by the governor, also is the state budget director, and has broad authority over all agencies of state government.

Gov. Victor Anderson has said that with a sufficient, trained staff, this office could supervise all state spending efficiently, "without creating another costly state agency or commission."

Anderson has suggested that the office of the budget supervisor could remain under the governor, but be responsible to the Legislature.

LAFB STUDIED

Lincoln Air Force Base will be one of several surveyed as possible site for "weapon systems expected to be operational in the near future." Story on Page 2.

of 12 "above ground" Nike missiles each and the necessary support equipment and facilities—will be constructed here at a cost of $1,750,000 each, NAADC officials said.

The installation will employ some 400 persons with an annual monthly payroll expected to exceed $125,000.

The batteries will require 50 acres of land each, a spokesman said. Possible sites were not revealed but will likely be discussed at the conference Tuesday between Fifth Army officials and Lincoln leaders.

Defend LAFB

Defense of the Lincoln Air Force Base will be the missile installation's "primary mission," a NAADC spokesman said. The Command will operate the installation after it is constructed by the Army and once it becomes operational.

Two Nike batteries will also defend Offutt Air Force Base near Omaha, the NAADC announced. Both bases will receive this defensive arm of America's armed power because they are Strategic Air Command units, it was pointed out.

The Omaha installation will be constructed by the end of fiscal 1959.

Ajax Or Hercules

Officials would not say definitely whether the Nike Ajax or Nike Hercules—or both—would be installed in the Lincoln area.

The Ajax, a liquid rocket-propelled, 20 foot, 1,000 pound missile, has a range of 30 miles and is guided by radio command. It has a 5-foot span and is capable of traveling at a speed of Mach-2, twice the speed of sound.

The Hercules, propelled by a cluster of boosters, is atomic armed. Weighing 2,000 pounds and believed to be some 22 feet long (2 feet in diameter), it travels at 3 times the speed of sound (Mach-3).

Guided by radar or radio, the Hercules has a striking range of 70 miles.

Both missiles were developed for the Army by Douglas Aircraft and Western Electric Co.

A third Nike—the Zeus—is presently under development and has a range of approximately 100 miles.

National Plan

The Lincoln installation will fit into an over-all national defense plan whereby U.S. armed strength is deployed and defended over the vast expanse of this nation, the Air Defense Command said.

In Lincoln's case, construction of the installation is turned over to the Fifth Army (headquarters in Chicago). The Army Air Defense Command component assumes responsibility for location of the site, acquisition of land and construction (all of which will be discussed at Tuesday's meeting here).

Once the installation is in operation, it becomes a portion of the North American Defense Command, under command of Gen. Earl E. Partridge.

Nikes can either be armed to knock out a single enemy aircraft or a formation. An atomic-armed Hercules "will raise hell with a formation of planes," a NAADC spokesman said.

The Army says the atomic warhead is "designed to insure detonation at an altitude sufficiently high to prevent damage to friendly surrounding territory."

Benefits Cited

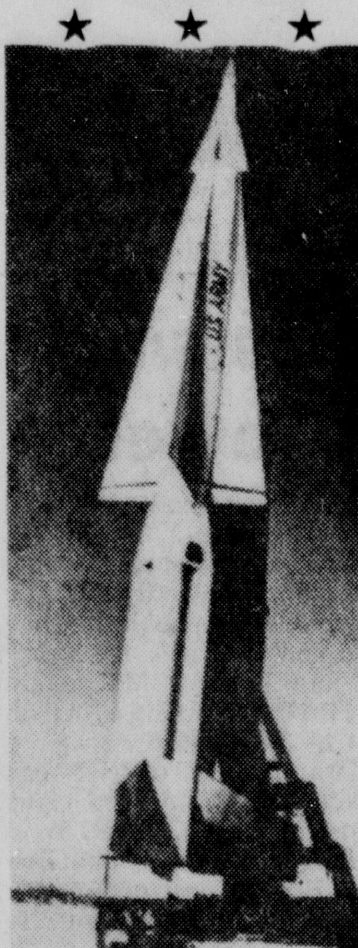

Economic benefits to Lincoln and the national defense value of a missiles installation here were cited Monday by officials of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce and the Lincoln Industrial Development Corp.

"It seems certain that Lincoln would provide most of the homes and services for these (400) men and for the families of those who are married," Chairman Emmet Junge of the Chamber's business expansion committee and E. N. Thompson, president of LIDC, said.

Annual payroll may top $1½ million at the installation.

Another value would be in jobs provided by the base's construction, Junge and Thompson said.

NIKE HERCULES . . . weighs 2,000 pounds, travels 3 times the speed of sound.

$4,300,000 Unofficial Lincoln Budget Proposed By Council

... Would Require Estimated 1.8 Mill Hike

By Virgil Falloon

An unofficial 1958-59 city budget of $4,300,000—requiring an estimated tax increase of 1.8 mills to a 17.8 mill-levy—was proposed by the City Council in winding up its budget sessions Monday.

The new record—breaking budget is approximately $388,500 higher than last year's budget of $3,911,588, which required a 15.8 mill-levy.

City Co-ordinator James Mallon said that official budget figures would probably be known late Tuesday with final action by the Council anticipated next Monday.

Mallon also said the official city valuation may be available Tuesday and an official estimate of the 1958 city levy made.

$5 Pay Hike

In Monday's budget session the Council approved a $5-a-month (cost of living) increase for all city employees, except policemen and firemen already granted a $15-a-month boost, some "merit" salary adjustments, and $50,000 additional budget requirements.

It was estimated the $5 hike for some 340 city employees would raise the cost of tax-

-No Physical Violence-

Dulles Gets Rio Jeers

'Go Home' Banner Greet
Secretary On Official
Visit To Brazil

Rio De Janeiro (P)—Students jeered Secretary of State Dulles on his arrival Monday for an official visit to Brazil. A banner demanded: "Dulles Go Home."

Boos and whistles, a Latin American equivalent of the Bronx cheer, sounded from windows of the leftist National Students Union headquarters as the secretary's car sped by at 50 m.p.h.

The Dulles-go-home banner swung at the middle of the headquarters building. The building was draped in black. On a mass of crepe was another sign saying:

"Petrobras is untouchable." Petrobras is Brazil's state-owned oil company.

A sign swinging above the entrance to the building attributed to Dulles the quotation: "The United States has no friends, just interests."

No Violence

But there was no physical violence, such as the spitting and stoning attacks on Vice President Nixon in Peru and Venezuela during Nixon's South American tour last spring. Nixon did not visit Brazil.

Riot police with submachine guns and tear gas manned 7 patrol cars parked around the corner to discourage outbreaks—or to cope with any. And Col. Danilo Nunes, chief of the government's political police, said 1,000 policemen would be called out if needed.

Friendship was manifest as well as hostility. Officials of President Juscelino Kubitschek's government welcomed Dulles at the airport. There was applause from a small throng at the U.S. Embassy, a modern building in downtown Rio.

The jeers came as he motored from the embassy to the residence of U.S. Ambassador Ellis Briggs.

Coffee Market

Dulles is here for talks with President Kubitschek on hemispheric problems ranging from defense to the plummeting coffee market.

Dulles' plane from Washington landed on the military side of Rio's International Airport. The sector was closed to the public and was under tight security control of Army, Navy and Air Force military police, some armed with sten guns and tear gas. Several U.S. security officers in plain clothes were on hand. Dulles wore a black homburg hat, a dark suit and maroon tie.

Speaking over the public address system, he said he had come to Brazil to "talk about the things that matter most—peace, freedom and progress."

Teamster Business Agent Turned Into A Firebrand

FRANK KIERDORF ACCUSES PAIR OF ATTACK IN WOODS

... His Identity Established By Fingerprints

Pontiac, Mich. (P)—A Teamsters business agent who was burned so badly Monday that he could be identified only through fingerprints said he had been turned into a human torch by 2 men.

Frank Kierdorf, 56, business agent for Teamsters Local 332 said the men drove him at gunpoint into a woods, soaked him in a fluid and ignited the liquid. Then they drove him to a hospital here and dumped him on the lawn.

Kierdorf in a statement to George F. Taylor, assistant Oakland county prosecutor, said he did not know the men. He said they came to his Flint home Sunday night and asked him to accompany them on some union business.

Didn't Know Pair

He told Taylor he did not know why the men set him afire, but that he was positive the reason was connected with union business.

Hours after Kierdorf staggered blindly into the lobby of the hospital, an uncle who only a few days ago quit a similar post with the teamsters, reported a threatening telephone call warning him, "You'll be next."

Both men had been called before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee to answer charges they used pressure tactics in their union roles.

Fingerprints showed the burned man to be Frank Kierdorf. He was burned over 85% of his body. One doctor said: "Any other man would have been dead."

"You're Next"

Kierdorf's uncle, Herman Kierdorf, business agent for Teamster Joint Council 32 in Detroit and an aide of teamsters' boss James R. Hoffa, said the anonymous caller cursed him and said, "you're next."

The uncle said he could give no reason for the burning or the telephone call.

Frank Kierdorf's son, Frank Jr., 30, a Detroit milkman, was called to the hospital to identify his father.

Looking down at the scorched face, puffed to twice its normal size by flames, young Kierdorf asked: "Do you know me, Dad?"

"No, I don't know you," was the reply in a barely audible whisper. The 2 exchanged a few more words unheard by police or doctors standing by. Then young Kierdorf, tears in his eyes, said: "I'm pretty sure that's him. I can see the mark of his glasses on his nose."

He paused, and then added: "When you play rough you get hurt sometimes."

Last November Kierdorf appeared before the Senate Rackets Committee and was accused by Sen. Karl Mundt (R-SD) of operating "a nice little Michigan shakedown." Mundt charged the shakedown involved threats to small businessmen unless they hired certain labor relations consultants who Mundt charged were conniving in the shakedown.

Short Council Session OKs So. 44th Sewer

By Virgil Falloon

The City Council Monday approved a new storm sewer project, estimated to cost $34,000, on 44th from Van Dorn to High and called for Aug. 20 bids.

It is one of the recommended projects to be financed from the $777,000 remaining in the 1954 storm sewer bond issue.

The light agenda before the Council was handled in a 90-minute session.

Two beer license transfers were approved effective Aug. 11 following public hearing. The new licensees are Robert E. and Frances McLaughlin at 1436 O and Jessie L. Wilkinson at 304 So. 13th.

Two paving district contracts were approved: Abel Construction Co., $4,213.35 for 39th from W to X, and Dobson Bros. Construction Co., $17,086.50 for 46th from Pioneer to Prescott.

The Council called for bids on Aug. 20 on the following projects with cost estimates:

—Paving District 1547, Starr from 50th to 51st, $7,776; Paving District 1547, Holdrege from 63rd to 64th, $6,042; Paving District 1571, High from 35th to 37th, $14,522; and Water District 480, 21st from Washington to Summer, $9,000.

The Council took action on the following ordinances:

—Introduced, 1st Reading

—Paving District for Starr and Meadow Dale Dr. from Lancaster to Urbana, and Urbana from Meadow Dale to Holdrege.

—Highway commercial zoning change for a tract on U. S. Hwy. 77 near the Penitentiary dairy farm. It is the second tract of the proposed site for the Nebraska Tractor & Equipment Co., Omaha.

Passed, 2nd Reading

—Paving District 1583 being 57th from South to Newton.

—Paving District 1586 being Frost Court between Frost Dr. and the west line of Frost Court.

All Council members were present except Hugh Thorne, excused for vacation.

Sentence Cut For Powers GI Deserter

Verdun, France (UPI)—American GI Wayne Powers, who deserted in World War II and hid for 14 years with his French sweetheart, had his 10-year prison sentence reduced to 6 months at hard labor and a dishonorable discharge.

The reduction, announced by Brig. Gen. Robert J. Fleming Jr., commanding general of the U.S. eastern France Army base, had been expected as part of an understanding that Powers would be dealt with leniently.

His case stirred French emotions when he was found on March 21 hiding in the home of 34-year-old Yvette Bleuse, who had borne him 5 children since 1944, and 50,000 letters pleading for clemency were received by the American Embassy in Paris.

Powers, who deserted from his Army unit just before the battle of the Bulge, was sentenced by a courtmartial Friday to 10 years at hard labor, dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

The balding Missouri soldier had been given to understand, however, that the prison term would be reduced drastically. He had entered a "negotiated plea" of guilty.

Trujillo Pays For Actress' $10,000 Flight To Yacht

Hollywood (UPI)—Actress Lita Milan returned from another secret flying trip to visit playboy-General Rafael Trujillo Jr., with the young son of the Dominican Republic strongman picking up the $10,000 tab for the jaunt.

The 29-year-old Trujillo chartered a Western Airlines plane for "slightly under $10,000" to fly Miss Milan and a party of 5 to Acapulco, Mexico, where Trujillo currently is vacationing aboard his luxury yacht. The actress had made 2 short trips aboard the yacht before Trujillo sailed sailed from Santa Monica, Calif., last month to return home via Acapulco.

Trujillo made headlines here with lavish gifts to film beauties, including Zsa Zsa Gabor and Kim Novak. But Miss Milan's latest flight cost the general more than either of the cars he presented to Zsa Zsa and Kim.

Blimp Reaches Ft. Churchill On Flight To Arctic

Ft. Churchill, Manitoba (P)—A Navy blimp touched down here Monday on the first leg of its 9,000 mile Arctic journey.

It was the first time in history that a blimp landed at this Canadian air base half way up the west shore of Hudson Bay.

A volunteer crew of 50 U.S. soldiers, including a championship tug-of-war team, grabbed the lines and helped walk the blimp up the runway to its portable mooring mast.

Reed Approved

Washington (UPI)—The Senate Judiciary Committee approved the nomination of George J. Reed of Minnesota to be a member of the Federal Parole Board. The nomination now must be confirmed by the Senate.

Rebel Toll Heavy

Algiers (P)—The French said 707 Nationalist rebels were killed and 138 taken prisoner during the past week. French losses were not given. Headquarters said another 69 rebels were killed and 3 captured Monday in a clash at Ket Menaa, in the Bou Saada region, about 180 miles south-east of Algiers.

U.S. Steel, Bethlehem Up Prices

Pittsburgh (P)—The second round of the steel industry's selective price increase was endorsed by U.S. Steel and Bethlehem, the No. 1 and No. 2 producers.

The 2 biggest companies followed the lead of other, smaller firms last week in posting higher prices for bars, rods, wire and tubular products.

U. S. Steel said its increases average approximately 3%. A check of the list showed semi-finished items raised from $2.50 to $5.00 per ton, finished goods $5.00 to $10.

Bethlehem did not announce any specific figures for its list, which also included carbon and alloy blooms, billets and slabs. However the Bethlehem prices were expected to be in line with those of other companies.

Reversed

In other years it has been customary that U.S. Steel first posted prices and the rest of the industry followed suit. This year the pattern is reversed.

Republic Steel Corp., the No. 3 producer, acted first last Friday on prices for bars, rods and wire.

With other companies generally expected to follow suit, prices now have been increased within the past week on about 60% of the nation's steel output.

The industry generally anticipates higher prices will be announced soon on the remaining items.

Next step, logically, would be application of these higher steel prices to the consumer.

Man's Skeleton Pushes Beginning Back With Apes

Grosseto, Italy (P)—A Swiss scientist claimed Monday he has discovered a skeleton proving man's ancestry goes back 10 million years or more.

If laboratory investigations support his theory, the skeleton could turn out to be one of the most important anthropological discoveries of the age.

Dr. Johannes Hurler, director of the Basel Museum for Natural Sciences, said 2 miners found the human-like skeleton 600 feet down in an Italian soft coal mine over the weekend.

Hurler reported the skeleton is between 10 million and 15 million years old. Pushing the beginnings of man back that far, he said, would mean that man descended contemporaneously with the apes—or even before them—perhaps from some common ancestor which resembled neither.

Weapons System Site Study Set For LAFB

Washington (P)—The Air Force plans to conduct surveys in the Lincoln, Neb., Air Force Base area for possible location of a weapon system site.

Sen. Roman Hruska (R-Neb), who was notified of the plans Monday, said the Air Force announcement gave no dates of the survey.

The Air Force said the survey, to be conducted in 12-15 Midwest locations, was to provide basic information to be used in planning weapon systems expected to be operational in the near future.

It said further that the survey could not result in immediate selection of any sites.

The surveys have no connection with Nike anti-aircraft missiles, Hruska's office reported.

The surveys presumably would be of areas near present Air Force bases or other government installations to find the best sites for support bases for missiles launching sites.

The Air Force previously has announced that it plans to construct an ICBM launching base in the Offutt Air Force Base area near Omaha.

The survey will include data on such things as terrain, availability of utilities and the density of population.

Demo Push On Ag Bill Is Blocked

Washington (UPI)—Administration forces blocked at least temporarily Monday a Democratic plan to push a new farm bill through the House without permitting a vote on changes sought by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson.

After 40 minutes of confused wrangling, the House put off until Wednesday a showdown vote on efforts to pass the bill under a procedure barring amendment.

The legislation would give Benson half a loaf by lowering price supports for cotton, rice and corn. But the authorized levels would not be as low as those in a Senate-passed bill which Benson has endorsed.

Votes For Block

House GOP leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. told United Press International he had the votes to block passage under the no-amendment rule, which would require a two-thirds majority for approval.

But speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) warned the House there would be no farm legislation unless the pending measure was approved intact and rushed to a Senate-House Conference Committee to work out a compromise.

The vote on the no-amendment procedure was postponed when Martin demanded a roll call. The House previously had agreed not to have any record votes before Wednesday because of various state primary elections Tuesday.

Kansas Surveys Too

Washington (P)—The Air Force informed Sen. Andrew F. Schoepel (R-Kan) Monday it plans surveys in the area of three Kansas installations to obtain information for use in planning weapon systems.

A Schoepel aide said he was told the Air Force wants additional missile bases similar to those recently selected in Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska and Washington and

TULSA CLAIMS SHE'S WORLD'S TOP TALKER

Tulsa, Okla. (P)—Mrs. Mary E. Davis, 32, Tulsa housewife, Monday claimed a new world's marathon talking record for women of 94 hours, 32 minutes, and 5 seconds.

Radio station KOMA, sponsor of the contest in which Mrs. Davis started last Thursday with 5 opponents, said she had beaten the former mark of 92 hours and 30 minutes set by Sue Huron, Fayetteville, N. C.

Mrs. Davis quit her talking shortly after 9 a.m. Monday. Under the contest's rules she could take 2 1/2 minutes rest per hour.

Her nearest opponent gave out after 81 hours.

The contestants did their talking—to themselves or anyone who would listen—in their own living room suites at a furniture store.

Terry Plans To Reopen Tax Hearings

Lincoln About Sept. 15

Subject to full committee approval, Sen. Terry Carpenter said Monday he plans to reopen the Legislative Tax Investigation Committee hearings Sept. 2 in Fremont, and will open hearings in Lincoln probably the week of Sept. 15.

The Scottsbluff senator said that after he opens tax hearings in Lancaster County in mid-September, he plans to travel alternately between Lincoln and Omaha, where hearings will be held on Douglas County tax matters, "right up to the night before the election."

The committee, created by tax hearings in several counties over the state starting in early October last year.

The general pattern has been to interview representatives of all types of business, as well as individuals, to determine the methods used in making tax returns and their compliance with state laws.

The committee is expected to recommend many changes in the state's present tax laws for consideration of the 1959 Legislature.

Pup Saved

Chicago (P)—An agent for the anti-cruelty society crawled 150 feet into a dark sewer to rescue a half-starved mongrel pup.

Weak barks attracted passersby who notified the society.

Agent Vic Brazinskas entered the sewer at its outlet into the Chicago River and crawled to the pup, bringing it out at a sewer hole.

He said he had no idea how the pup got into the predicament.

To the man who says, "I'm from Missouri..."

Frankly, we don't expect you to take our word for it when we say the Swept-Wing 58 Dodge is unlike any car you have ever driven. We don't expect you to believe it rides smoother, corners better and handles easier just because we say so. You want more than claims. You want proof. You want to be shown, to be convinced. That's why we invite you to come in and Take the Wheel...

Get the Swept-Wing feel. Take a '58 Dodge out on the road and compare it with any other car you have ever owned or driven. Is it everything we say it is? Does it actually ride smoother? Corner better? Handle easier? We'll leave the answers up to you. You be the judge. Just see and drive and compare the Swept-Wing 58 Dodge. That's all we ask.

Soviet Summit Reply Awaited In U.S.

Officials Less Certain Red OK Coming

Washington (AP)—Top officials awaiting a new message from Soviet Premier Khrushchev reported they were less certain that he would accept President Eisenhower's bid for a summit meeting within the United Nations Security Council.

They acknowledged, however, it was difficult to predict what Khrushchev is likely to do on an issue with such worldwide propaganda possibilities.

A substantial number of State Department officials still forecast a Khrushchev acceptance. They anticipated a Soviet reply within the next 24 hours but said they were less sure it would nail down arrangements for a top level parley.

Some Moscow sources speculated that the next move might come from the Russian delegation at the U.N. They considered that Eisenhower's Aug. 1 letter did not require a direct reply from Khrushchev.

Khrushchev's delay in answering the letter caused some officials here to look for a Soviet turnaround of the American-British proposal.

May Reaffirm

Khrushchev may reaffirm, these officials speculated, his original proposal for a 5-power meeting outside the United Nations. This would bring together the leaders of the United States, Russia, Britain, France and India, plus Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld of the U.N.

The authorities noted that the communique issued after Khrushchev met in Peiping with Red China's boss, Mao Tse-tung, did not mention a United Nations framework for such a meeting. The communique called for the heads-of-government of the big powers to meet immediately to discuss the Middle East crisis.

State Department diplomats who have been following Soviet propaganda output have noted a sharp falling off of mention of the summit issue in the past 2 days. Some authorities viewed this as signaling a cooling off toward the summit conference idea now that Eisenhower has made clear he will refuse any big power parley outside the U.N.

Diplomats Meet
United Nations, N.Y. (UPI)—Western diplomats held behind-the-scenes talks on plans for a summit meeting with Russia in the United Nations Security Council.

An informal council meeting was postponed, meanwhile, pending receipt of a reply from Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to the West's summit proposals. The session was to have taken up plans for a U.N. summit meeting.

However, U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge conferred with French Ambassador Guillaume Georges-Picot for an hour, after which they were joined by British Ambassador Sir Pierson Dixon. Later Dixon and Lodge left, and Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjöld talked privately with Georges-Picot, council president for August.

The council president told newsmen the discussions centered about plans for the proposed summit-council meeting.

89th Army Reserve Unit To Colorado

Members of the infantry and all divisional units of the 89th Division of the Army Reserves will participate in their yearly summer camp training activities at Ft. Carson, Colo., Sunday through Aug. 24.

Included will about 340 men from units at Lincoln, Pawnee City, Wymore, Syracuse, York and Fairbury.

A train carrying the reserves will leave Lincoln about midnight Saturday, picking up additional reserves in the west.

August 17 through 31st the 341st Medical Division and the 805th Military Police will attend camp at Ft. Riley, Kan. About 90 men from this area will go to Ft. Riley.

Some 70 men from the Lincoln area have already returned from Camp McCoy, Wis., where the 370th Engineers trained.

High Court Gets Save Trains Assn. Appeal Transcript

Efforts of the Save the Trains Assn. to force the Chicago and North Western Railway to restore passenger trains 13 and 14 to service between Omaha and Chadron moved forward by one routine step in the Nebraska Supreme Court.

Filed with the high court was the transcript of an appeal from the Douglas County District Court, which last month dismissed the association's petition asking that the railroad be held in contempt of court for discontinuing the trains a month ago.

The railroad acted on the strength of a Supreme Court decision ordering the State Railway Commission to allow the railroad to drop the trains. The Save the Trains Assn. contends that the railroad had no right to drop the trains until the formal mandate came down from the court.

The association has made a 2-pronged attack on the train removals.

In one case, the association has asked the Supreme Court for a rehearing and a contempt citation.

At the same time, it has appealed the contempt action brought originally in district court at Omaha.

Lancaster Board OKs Employes Pay Raises

The Lancaster County Board Monday informally approved salary raises totalling $41,000 for more than 216 county employes.

Approved were increases averaging $15 a month for about 105 office workers, an across-the-board monthly raise of $10 for about 100 highway department employes and varying boosts for 11 deputy office heads.

The Board will meet Tuesday morning and officially adopt the 1958-59 fiscal year budget. The present county mill levy of 5.6 is expected to be cut to about 5.1, but the exact figure will not be known until later this week.

County Board Chairman Russell Brehm said the raises to the office and highway department employes will add $33,360 to the annual payroll and the boosts given the deputies will add $7,640 more.

More Deputies

Brehm's proposal to add 4 deputies to the staff of Sheriff Merle Karnopp was assured of success when Commissioner Rollin Bailey announced he will back it, giving the plan the 2 votes necessary to pass. It is doubtful whether Commissioner Del Lienemann will back the proposal.

The new deputies will be assigned to night patrol duty and will increase the number of cars on county-road duty at night from one to 3.

All 3 Commissioners were in agreement for the most part on how much to boost salaries of office and highway department employes. But raises for the deputy office heads was another matter.

The biggest area of disagreement on the deputies was on the requests submitted by County Atty. Elmer Scheele for his 3 deputies, Dale Fahrbruch, Paul Douglas and Arthur Curtiss. He recommended $8,900 for Fahrbruch, his chief deputy; $8,400 for Douglas and $6,500 for Curtiss.

The 3 men are now drawing $6,300, $5,460 and $5,400, respectively.

Expected Increases
The salaries which are expected to be approved for them Tuesday are $7,500 for Fahrbruch, $7,000 for Douglas and $6,000 for Curtiss.

These figures are a compromise between those proposed by Bailey—which were higher—and those of Lienemann—which were lower.

The Commissioners agreed on $5,900 salaries for Chief Dep. Sheriff Les Hasson and Dep. Engineer George Freeman, both of whom now receive $5,400.

The salaries of the other deputies, who now receive $4,980, were set at $5,520. Receiving this figure will be Charles Currie (Treasurer's office), W. W. Schneider (Assessor's office), Otis Nelson (District Court Clerk's office), Tynna Baer (County Clerk's office), Kenneth Ferguson (Register of Deeds' office), and Harold Hamlin (County Judge's office).

The Board also approved operating budgets of the various county offices. Here are the budgets which will be approved by the Board Tuesday, compared with the amount requested by the office heads.

Port Moresby, New Guinea (UPI)—Two natives were killed in a skirmish with police who were sent to the village of Navuneram, on New Britain, to enforce collection of taxes.

The villagers, who have been refusing to pay taxes to the British administration, threw stones at the police from behind prepared positions, an official statement issued here said.

Improvements And Confusion

WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It won't be long now, we hope, before the motoring public is smiling as it travels 10th street through the downtown part of Lincoln. The new surface on 10th between N and R has long been needed and will be appreciated as one recalls the washboard likeness of the old brick street.

The fact that these old bricks, serving the city for more than 50 years, are just now being covered, is evidence of the degree of decay of Lincoln's streets. Any streets that old would, by modern standards, long ago have outlived its usefulness. Today, a 10-year-old paving is considered to be getting along in years and no doubt needs a substantial amount of work to put it back into first-class shape. Unfortunately, Lincoln has a great many miles of street much older than 10 years on which little, if anything, has been done over its period of life.

Two other old brick surfaces were recently put to rest by the city. Both of them, the widening and resurfacing of South west of 48th and the same treatment on 48th north of Holdrege, were substantial improvements. They made travel much safer and definitely more enjoyable.

But these improvements may well be the last for some time unless certain things happen. A great deal hinges upon the court's decision on the wheel tax controversy. If the decision knocks out the wheel tax, the answer to future improvement problems is going to be hard to find.

And projects such as 10th, 48th and South have left street work far from completed. There remain with us yet such headaches as East O, North and South 27th, Randolph (and that one is enough to make you shudder), the opening of Leighton into University Place, work on parts of Vine and Corner Blvd. and many other jobs.

This year's city budget contains a total appropriation for street improvement work of $893,706. But don't be misled by this. For one thing, it includes $225,000 in anticipated wheel tax or street improvement levy funds. As we said, this income depends upon a court decision first and then an election and may well never materialize.

But temporarily removing the improvement levy funds still leaves the city with $390,206 in gasoline tax revenue and $278,500 in auto registration fees for spending in 1958-59. This, again, is a substantial amount of money but only when viewed strictly as a specific sum.

When compared to the needs, the $668,706 in gas tax and registration fees looks pretty small. Just about the entire amount could be wiped out with the planned K and L streets one-way pair improvements. It would take probably twice the amount of the two funds to do the East O project.

Consequently, while the city may rejoice at the work being done on 10th, it might be well also to contemplate those things which are left undone. The 10th street job should serve as somewhat of an inspiration. The job is enhanced by the fact that new street lighting with underground wiring will replace the antiquated lighting system of old with its unsightly overhead power lines. We mentioned confusion, also, and it has to do with traffic signal lights. Four-corner signals will reportedly be placed at several intersections.

If 10th is to be one-way, we fail to see the need for four-corner signals. The city, at times, seems to waste money on traffic signals by using entirely too many. The intersection of Capitol Parkway, 33rd and A streets is so overloaded with traffic signals that you can't even tell what purpose half of them are to serve. At 27th and the Parkway, several expensive signals were installed and are now covered with burlap—seemingly a wasteful extravagance.

major rivers have been made obedient. Winthrop Rockefeller, one of the speakers at the Oahe observance, stated it realistically when he referred to the taming of the Missouri as more significant to the region than the mastery of atomic energy.

But it was significant when South Dakota's governor Joe Foss observed that the dams had taken 500,000 acres of South Dakota land for which his state was entitled to compensation from the dams' electric production.

Nebraska rejoices over the new abundance that is in store for South Dakota, but it can remind Gov. Foss that for every semi-arid acre lost to the dams there will be other presently semi-arid acres that will bloom like the Garden of Eden. Neighboring states, which also have a stake in the Missouri, cannot be beneficiaries of its great gift of irrigation, but they are on firm ground when they point out that there is great compensation in a new agricultural abundance plus a reasonable share of electric power. Governor Foss should not minimize the purpose and character of the Missouri Basin development as a regional blessing where benefits are proportionate and according to their applicability wherever they serve.

Gov. Foss' Doctrine

While giant earth moving equipment pushed their loads into the steadily narrowing escape channel of the Missouri River, national and state dignitaries stood on a rough platform within eyeshot surrounded by 15,000 celebrants and commemorated the closing of Oahe dam in South Dakota Sunday.

It was a repeat performance such as earlier was held at Gavins point near Sioux City, at Fort Randall near Yankton, and at Garrison in North Dakota, telling of the taming of the Upper Missouri where four massive dams will contribute to the making of a man made lake extending almost 1,200 miles.

The Oahe closing itself will form a reservoir 250 miles long containing enough water to cover the state of Rhode Island to a depth of 24 feet. Upon the completion of the Dakota dams, plus the now venerable Fort Peck dam farther upstream, the several state area of which Nebraska is a part will see the dawn of a new day—one of great new dimensions in the production of electric power, of flood control, irrigation, navigation and recreation. It means the taming and deployment of the Missouri in its upper reaches and readies the valley for such vast resources development as has occurred always when

Lincoln's Missile Base

The announcement by the Continental Air Defense Command of plans for a Nike missile base at Lincoln brings forcefully home the reality of the perilous age in which we live. Just a few short years ago, such a base in the middle of the United States would have been useless and such a weapon as the Nike, of course, was not in existence.

For Lincoln, there is nothing particularly to be alarmed about in the announcement. The base would make this area no more subject to attack by enemy aircraft than is now the case. It would provide protection against any such attack which conceivably could be made in event of another war. The fact that something in excess of $3 million would be spent on such a base in the Lincoln area underscores the importance of the Strategic Air Command Base here.

Outside of this powerful striking arm of the nation's defense force, Lincoln would be no more logical a location for such a site than many other cities in the Midwest. The presence of Nike missiles in the Lincoln area would be evidence of the fact that the next war, if it should ever come, would not be like either past world wars.

Strategic points in the United States would have to be protected against enemy attack, a maneuver all but impossible without the scientific progress made since the end of World War II. Along with this, the installation would also be welcome from an economic point of view. It would mean a substantial construction expenditure in the area and the addition of a sizable payroll to the city.

Lincoln has always co-operated with the operation of the Lincoln Air Force Base and the best of relationships have existed between the military and civilian population. If that means anything in connection with the missile base—and it should count for something—then chances for such an installation here should be very good.

We Have A Competitor

As Congress hastens toward adjournment the big end of educational reform seems destined to pass over until the next session.

Of all the school bills seeking attention only one seems to have caught the attention of the lawmakers. It is the Senate bill which would provide 23,000 annual scholarships of $500 to $1,000 each for needy science, math, language and history students, plus $75 million for an institute to improve teaching and $20 million more for vocational education. There is precious little in the measure that would redirect educational effort or provide the special facilities for teaching the science subjects so sorely needed by the nation.

One cannot argue over the good sense of granting scholarships to potential needy scientists for in the end no educational facility is worth its salt if it does not serve the maximum number of the right kind of students. But scholarships alone is a half a loaf.

It is going on two years since the Russians launched Sputnik I and served notice on America that it would get all the way into the league or else. But it is a commentary on the times to note how quickly the American sense of urgency faded. Organized education is back at the old manager changed hardly any except in an interest in eating more hay, and the public is going along for the ride.

It is with education as it is in diplomacy, the nation is conducting its affairs as though there was no competitor in the field. That is why it is getting so many distasteful surprises. Being dilatory in education is a boon to Russia.

Insurance Firms Fight Labor Bill

WASHINGTON — A hot battle to safeguard labor's welfare and pension funds is coming to a head in the House of Representatives on Wednesday. All sorts of wires are being pulled backstage to amend the pension bill already passed by the Senate. Strangely, the wires are being pulled by the insurance companies. The labor leaders are trying to get the bill passed.

What the insurance companies object to is the Senate bill's requirement that business as well as labor disclose the facts regarding welfare and pension funds. It hasn't made headlines, but some whopping big commissions have been paid by employer and insurance groups in the past to get these lucrative welfare funds. One set of commissions totaled $1,000,000, and the insurance companies don't want to disclose them.

However, two congressmen will introduce amendments to change the Senate bill. They are:

1. Congressman Bill Ayres of Akron, Ohio, who would exempt all pension funds to which workers do not contribute. This would place beyond the law such funds as the laundry workers from which $900,000 was stolen; and the distillery workers fund, also criticized severely by a Senate committee. It would also exempt the Hoffa-Dorfman fund for the Teamsters in the Detroit-Chicago area and the Western Conference of Teamster Funds administered by Dave Beck which came in for Senate criticism.

Ayres' amendment was supported by all Republicans in the House labor committee, but outvoted by the Democrats.

2. Congressman Albert Bosch of Woodhaven, N.Y., will introduce a resolution exempting all pension funds operated by employers. This is what the insurance companies are plugging for.

Most active insurance company in pressuring Congress is the giant Equitable Assurance Society in New York. On April 25 its vice president, Merle A. Gulick, wrote to a select group of policyholders urging them to contact senators to get insurance companies exempted from the pension and welfare bill.

"The bill would require public disclosure of a considerable amount of financial detail of the operation of employers' group insurance and pension plans," wrote Mr. Gulick. "This type of financial detail has been considered by many employers to be of a confidential nature and solely in the realm of management responsibility." Equitable then urged insurance policyholders not to register "an all-out opposition" to the bill, but merely get insurance companies exempted.

"Since debate on the floor of the Senate may already be under way," Equitable warned, "no time should be lost in registering your thoughts with your senator."

Moderates Gain In Tennessee

WASHINGTON — Southern traditionalists, bell-wethers as usual by extremists, will be hoping to deal moderates the second section of the old one-two punch in Tennessee's primary next Thursday. It does not appear likely that they will succeed.

With the overwhelming reelection of Arkansas' Gov. Orval Faubus as the first blow, old line southerners hope to complete their knockout by the elimination of Senator Albert Gore and the nomination of an openly segregationist candidate for governor in Tennessee.

Two weeks ago, and particularly after the Faubus landslide, it seemed possible that Gore might be defeated. He had expected no opposition this year and had neglected his organization. When former Gov. Prentice Cooper switched from a crowded race for governor to oppose him, Gore was caught unprepared.

Cooper, charging Gore with failure to sign the Southern manifesto and with support of the recent watered-down civil rights bill, kept Gore on the defensive. But Cooper, apparently energized by his success, began making his charges stronger. He announced that Gore would make an ideal senator for Khrushchev. This seems to have been taking things too far for Tennessee voters. The extremism of his opponent plus a dogged defense of his record apparently have turned the tide in Gore's favor.

Tennessee's governor's race is even livelier. Principal contenders are Buford Ellington, a politician's politician who is wearing the silks of Gov. Frank Clement; Judge Andrew T. Taylor, who typifies the Old South, and Mayor Edmund Orgill of Memphis, a moderate of such notable purity as to make politicians cringe.

Ellington, twice manager of campaigns for Gov. Clement and his principal patronage dispenser since, and Taylor, a distant relative of a famous Tennessee political family, are for segregation period. Orgill, a leading Memphis business man before he entered politics, says that he is personally for segregation but is also for the law of the land.

A late starter in the campaign, Orgill has pushed forward rapidly. Since Ellington and Taylor will undoubtedly divide the traditionalist and extremist vote, Orgill may well come in first. There is no runoff in Tennessee.

A leading churchman, an active supporter of better educational facilities, and a world-minded business man, Orgill appears to have had notable success in appealing both to his fellow business men and to women. Although he has no national renown, an Orgill victory in the race for the governorship would in practical effect be more significant to the forces of moderation in the South, and the nation, than would a victory by Gore.

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

Tonight we planned to "set a spell" in our big, comfortable lawn chairs, and watch the night creep across the front lawn. The chores were done earlier than usual since another rain has kept The Farmer out of the field today, and I had finished the supper dishes in flying style.

Sometimes it's good to have nothing to do but sit quietly and watch an indigo sky become star-studded with a myriad of diamonds. Night is never much thought about — it always comes at the end of a day and has been doing it for eons of time, and yet there is something spectacular about it. I suppose if night came only once in fifty years, everyone would be high on a hilltop to see the stars come out one by one and proclaim it an almost unbelievable phenomenon.

The pastel clouds of the twilight hour changed to soft sheens of blue, growing deeper until the far horizons were shadow-etched in peaceful waiting for day's end. Purple shadows intervened . . . the pheasant's whirr, the bobwhite's call, the distant barking of a dog echoed across fields. A mourning dove called out unseen while overhead the moon played in and out among the cloud banks. All in all, it was an ideal night for sitting in the front yard while the cloak of night was pinned around the farm . . .

Then they came — the sky raiders! Mosquitoes in swarms hummed and droned and lit, bombarding us with pricks that sent us scurrying back into the house for cover.

How fast does a cucumber grow? It's at a mighty fast rate, I find as I desperately try to keep them picked, brined and put into jars. There's a spice and vinegar sweetness oozing from the kitchen almost every day now, with sliced pickles, whole pickles, big pickles, little pickles, and chunk pickles floating somewhere in stone jars.

Soon I am going to palm them off on someone else, for I have reached the maximum of my endurance in fixing cucumbers. When winter snow flies, crisp green pickles will be a treat to perk up the meals and I no doubt will be the first to say, "What could be better than a good sweet pickle?"

The tiger lilies are in bloom now. I have the plain old-fashioned kind, the kind my grandmother had in her flower garden. In fact, the ones I have are bulbs started from her plants. For years my mother had a corner of the garden that suddenly burst into orange flares. Then I dug some bulbs and set them into the corner of my garden where they grow year after year — all from Grandmother's garden many, many years ago . . .

The four o'clocks are in bloom now, too, a dazzling array of color when it is needed most. I have found it is much easier to mow the lawn than to pull weeds from flowers, so most of the flowers have gone by the way the past few years.

I have visions of a huge flower garden some day with plenty of leisure time to work in it properly. Perhaps that will be my hobby when I retire, and yet if I pursue all the things I want to do when I retire, I will be as busy as a full-time employee. Perhaps that will be all right, too, for then I will not have time to think of growing old. Then I can kid myself into thinking the back aches and muscular pains are caused from weeding and hoeing . . . not really a sign that the years are taking their toll. I think I would like it much better that way.

The Benefits

Omaha, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: Hell's Canyon, (Idaho) is the deepest such cleft in North America. Its bed is solid rock. It is a dam builder's dream. We wish we could escort Congressman Weaver there to get the thrill of it — to visualize how by snapping it shut, a magical long, deep river will have been created amid mountain ranges.

The low dams will waste water at this singular site, which is "natural" for masonry raised to the greatest height.

The high dam will mean: Vast quantities of low-cost power for the coming industrial belt.

Statewide irrigation over arid soil for the ranchers. Even power will have to yield water to irrigation if there is a pinch.

Flood control on the spot and uniformity of river flow where the Snake empties into the Columbia, appreciating God's gift of pure water by using it.

With the industries and terracing projects, tens of thousands of brand new jobs for the nation, which in turn will pour taxes into the coffers of the U. S. A., hence of Nebraska.

A wondrous new playground for wildfowl and sportsmen. Larks will sing once again.

The best bet of an investment that any government could make. The 20 greatest dams in the world have paid for their cost many times over and will still last centuries. They have been yielders of vitality to their territory. No country ever rued their greater dams, and they fought desperate battles to withhold them from their foes.

A new empire of productivity in the Northwest, producing riches from the heavy minerals mined there. Riches for all of us, riches to replenish the drains now going for defense.

Mosquito Menace

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The city of Lincoln has done a good job in recent years in the matter of building up its parks, beautifying what recreational grounds have been available, and adding to them in the matter of landscaping, picnic facilities and swimming pools. But within the past few weeks, another matter, and one of real concern in the category of comfort, has come up. And that is those darn mosquitoes that move in in the early evening and proceed to reduce all exposed human life to the consistency of hamburger.

This is especially annoying to picnicking families whose only chance for an outside meal is in the evening, and where youngsters are concerned. The mosquito bites soon create large red welts all over their tender skin.

We are appealing to the park department workers, or whoever is in charge, to see if something might be done by way of spraying to reduce this unpleasant addition to what would otherwise be a most enjoyable outing in Lincoln's parks.

CHEWED

Apology In Order

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I don't know when I have read anything quite as disgusting as the article about the "poor professor" who was going to get his state warrant a day or possibly two late. Does he think professors are the only ones who sometimes have to wait a few days for their paychecks? Many who have had to wait haven't raised such a hue and cry. They have had the good grace to take it like understanding ladies and gentlemen and not blame it on the inefficiency of the Republicans or the death of one man for stopping the wheels of our state government.

When I read of one of the "learned" teachers at our University making such stupid remarks, I wonder what they are teaching the young men and women who are attending the University of Nebraska. I just hope all professors aren't so narrow-minded, petty and small as this one.

I think he owes the Republican party and most certainly Mrs. Hill an apology. However, I doubt that he is man enough to make it.

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Meditations of a beauty contest judge as the contestants pass in review: "Here's a babe from the North, from St. Paul, With a sweet smile for one and for all. Now I'll be dog-goned! That Twin Cities blonde Just smiles at them once, and they fall."

"Who's this doll? That's Miss Jersey City. She's a knockout; she's more than just pretty. Why, Judas H. Priest! This gal from the East Could kidnap the Harris Committee."

"See this dish representing Cheyenne, Dressed in buckskin and three coats of tan. Well, I'll be blest! That gal from the West Could rope, throw and tie any man."

"This dreamy eyed honey's from Natchez. Any man that she chases—she catches. And hush my mouth! This babe from the South Could sure start a fire without matches."

Weigh Ruling On Integration

... Little Rock Decision Likely Within Month

St. Louis (P)—An important legal battle over suspension of integration at Central High School in Little Rock was taken under advisement Monday by the U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals. Its outcome could affect the pace of school desegregation throughout the South.

The 7-judge court is expected to hand down its decision within a month, before the fall school term begins Sept. 2 in Little Rock.

Oral arguments in the case were marked by a charge the Eisenhower administration let down the Little Rock School Board by not prosecuting trouble-making anti-integrationists. The charge was made by A. F. House of Little Rock, an attorney for the School Board.

Negro attorneys argued the delay in integration at Little Rock, if permitted to stand, will be seized upon by segregationists throughout the South as a means of delaying school integration.

The suspension order was granted June 21 by Federal District Judge Harry J. Lemley of Hope, Ark., at the request of the School Board for a cooling off period.

It came to the appellate court on an appeal by the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, which called it "an invitation to violence."

Only once in the 2½-hour hearing in a small, jammed courtroom did a member of the court say anything to indicate the thinking of the court.

The white-haired House was saying the School Board was not given proper support by the government in enforcing integration. Judge Martin C. Matthes of St. Louis interrupted with:

"What is your answer then? Do you surrender to violence? What is there in the record to indicate the people will be different in 2½ years?"

"We did not voluntarily surrender," House replied. "Your question poses a fundamental problem. A School Board cannot enforce integration. It is made up of men who serve without compensation, as a matter of civic duty. They are there to help educate children."

Thurgood Marshall general counsel for the NAACP, conceded the School Board faced many problems. But, he said, "democracy is a tough job and integration in any community is not easy."

If the Lemley decision stands, Marshall said, it will be a sign to segregationists that "if they commit overt acts like arson or bombing, they will be successful."

Arkansas is the southernmost state of the Eighth Circuit and the only state in the circuit without a member on the bench.

The chief judge is 90-year-old Archibald K. Gardner, a South Dakota Republican. Other Republican members, in addition to Matthes, 52, are John B. Sanborn, 74, of Minnesota, and Martin D. Van Oosterhout, 58, of Iowa.

The 3 Democratic members are Harvey M. Johnson, 63, and Joseph W. Woodruff, 84, both of Nebraska, and Charles J. Vogel, 60, of North Dakota.

Mothballing Of Navy Ships To Start Again

Washington (UPI) — The Navy Monday ordered work resumed on the "mothballing" of 10 ships in a move indicating that the Middle East crisis was easing.

The work of putting the ships in virtual storage was halted July 16 as a precautionary measure in case they were needed in the Middle East. But the Navy said Monday the program would proceed as planned.

Another 35 ships are scheduled for deactivation to reduce the fleet from 901 to 864 vessels. Decisions on these ships were being deferred for the present, the Navy said.

2 At W. Lincoln Club Held After Liquor Raid

The manager and bartender of the "Esquire Club" in West Lincoln were arrested Saturday evening in a raid by officials of the State Liquor Commission and County Sheriff's office for violation of liquor sales.

County Attorney Dale Fahrbruch said the 2 had been charged with selling liquor without a license.

They will be arraigned in County Court at 11 a.m. Tuesday, Fahrbruch said.

Children who do "the dardest things" can sometimes outstrip their elders in thoughtfulness, as a group of parents in the 42nd and B area found Monday.

Ashland Man Pleads Guilty To Auto Theft

Ernest Eblen of Ashland pleaded guilty Monday in Lancaster District Court to an auto theft charge.

He and his brother, Donald, both were arrested early Sunday morning by police in a cemetery near 84th and Adams in possession of a stolen car, which they allegedly were "stripping" of parts.

Judge Harry Ankeny deferred sentencing on Ernest Eblen, 33, pending an investigation of the case by the Adult Probation Office.

Donald Eblen, 31, also of Ashland, pleaded innocent before County Court Judge Herbert A. Ronin to an auto theft charge and also to a charge of carrying a concealed pistol. His preliminary hearing was set for Aug. 16, and a $5,000 appearance bond was required.

Ernest Eblen had pleaded guilty earlier in the day in County Court to auto theft and to carrying a concealed shotgun. But the concealed weapon charge was dismissed by the County Attorney's office when he was brought into District Court.

A shotgun was found in the car the Eblens were driving just before they were captured in the cemetery and a pistol was found underneath the car.

Guardsmen Begin Final Week In Field

Camp Ripley, Minn. (P)—Relaxed from weekend excursions into surrounding resort areas, Iowa and Nebraska National Guardsmen Monday buckled down for the final week of field training.

Iowa's 168th Infantry regiment engaged in field tactical exercises while its sister regiment, the 133rd, participated in demolitions, obstacle and field bridge construction.

Mortar firing and squad tactics kept the Nebraska 134th regiment busy.

Weekend activity included a tri-state service rifle challenge tournament between Iowa, Nebraska and Minnesota teams preparing to compete in the national matches later this month at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Nebraska Wins

Nebraska's 5-man team won with a score of 1,127, followed by Minnesota, 1,122. Iowa scored 1,117 but had top rifleman in Maj. Bruce Johnson of Ankeny. He shot 241 out of a possible 250.

The winning Nebraska team included four men from Hol-drege's C company, 195th tank battalion. They were CWO. Dennis Westerlin, Pvt. Addison A. Johnson; William E. Johnson, and Sfc Milo E. Horn. CWO. Fred R. Schultz, Omaha, headquarters 34th infantry division, was the fifth team member.

Finals in the annual division boxing and wrestling tournaments are scheduled Tuesday night. Iowa is the wrestling champion favorite. Nebraska, loaded with mid-west golden gloves, is favored in the boxing.

'Jet Barrier' Nabs Plane Overshooting At Offutt

Omaha (P)—A "jet barrier" at the northeast end of the short runway at Offutt Air Field Monday night saved a jet plane from cracking up and the pilot from being injured in a landing. The jet barrier is a system of dual netting, held by strong chains, that grabs the gear under the nose of a plane and prevents it from leaving the runway and crashing when an emergency arises.

Committee For Juvenile Court Set Up

The formation of an official Lincoln Committee for the Juvenile Court Amendment began Lincoln's part in a statewide campaign of organization and individuals working for a separate juvenile court system in Nebraska.

According to the Rev. Carroll Lemon, a member of the committee, a chairman will be selected soon and a speakers bureau has already been set up. The Rev. Mr. Lemon said that the speakers bureau would provide various organizations and groups with speakers on the court amendment topic. He added that this service is available to anyone by contacting him through the Council of Churches.

If the amendment is passed by voters in November, it will be the first step in paving the way for establishment of separate juvenile courts by election in each of the districts, after legislative action has been taken.

'Astonishing' 1-Cent Stamp Demand Here

An "astounding" increase in the sale of one-cent stamps has been caused by the one cent raise in postal rates which went into effect the 1st.

Since the change took place post office officials estimated a total of 330,000 one-cent stamps have been sold.

The rush for the one-centers forced the post office to order 200,000 of them from the Kansas City, Mo., office to meet the demand officials said.

A total of approximately 1,075,000 4-cent stamps have been sold in Lincoln during the first 3 days since they became required, postal workers said. They estimated that normally about 600,000 3-cent stamps would have been sold during the period.

Most of the increase was caused by companies and people "stocking up" postal officials noted.

About 75,000 of the new 7-cent airmail stamps have been sold since the rate increase according to the officials.

The Lincoln postoffice had received requests from the postoffices at Hastings and Beatrice to supply them with the one-centers and some were sent to Beatrice before officials realized that the office here would run short of them.

POSTCARD

In the sunny morning, the jets whistle out to sea on important missions, known but to the High Command.

Over the green hills. Glistening sunlight from the swept-back wings.

They rise into the blue, blue sky and leave a spreading pencil line of white vapor.

In the evening, we go to the neighborhood movie.

Watching tragedy (that happily always ends happily) from the dark comfort of the loge seats.

There is a five-minute break and we are invited to go out and buy popcorn in the lobby.

I wait for movies to come to me. At the neighborhoods. Rather than face the tragedy of trying to park downtown. Unlike my movies, my own experiences seldom end happily. They end with driving 'round and 'round the block and getting in after the show has started.

Most movies, I find, are believable until the last two minutes.

In the last two minutes, the bridge is blown by unbelievable accident.

Boy Gets Girl by the most amazing piece of coincidence.

The staunch villain folds like a wet shirt and confesses. The lost will is found. The hero trips on a rug and releases the hidden brick in the fireplace.

The unforgiving forgive. And the unbelieving believe, believe me.

Only the popcorn is salted.

I would certainly like to redo the scenario on my own life. I would recast myself in a more heroic role.

In the rosiness of youth, I thought there would be nothing finer than to be a railroad engineer. We all went around toot-tooting at each other.

"Toot-toot! Rock Island Express coming!"

We graduated from engineer to cowboys. I have spent some mighty fine mornings stalking the sidewalks of Dry Gulch with my hands hung low over my cap pistols.

"When you call me that, smile!"

We had seen "The Virginian." But were not quite sure what the other fellow called him. We suspected it was "rustler." That was a bad word.

We became soldiers. "Halt and give the countersign!"

Bang! Bang! You're dead."

Also football stars. We were never downed. As soon as the other boy let go, you got up and ran again. While he hollered in frustration: "You were down! You cheater!"

It was not cheating at all. It was just that we were always trying to end things gloriously. The last two minutes of the movie. What an exhausting goal.

Well, life did not turn out like that at all. With all the ends neatly tucked in. Happily ever after.

Most things never ended at all—just went on in a sort of comic fashion being hit over the head with bladders. It is unpredictable and enough to give you a gritty disposition.

I have tripped over many a rug. But never found a lost will.

There is nothing behind the bricks in the fireplace except old razor blades. There is an old razor blade slot in the bathroom. You drop in your old blade and it goes behind the bricks. (Our hairless descendants of future centuries are going to have a time when they dig into my ruins.)

There is scarcely any plot at all that I can see.

Just the same I duck under the trees when the jets go over. They could accidentally drop a wing tank on me and spoil the ending. I am still that hopeful.

Responsibility For Inmate Return Set

The officer who apprehends an escapee from the Girls' Training School in Geneva has the legal responsibility to return the inmate to the institution, Atty. Gen. C. S. Beck has held.

Fillmore County Atty. John C. Gewacke of Geneva asked the question, referring particularly to cases where the inmate is apprehended outside the county in which the institution is located.

"There is no duty on the sheriff of Fillmore County to go after the inmate and transport her back to the institution when she has been apprehended or arrested in a county other than his," said the opinion, "even though requested to do so by the institution authorities, unless he shall desire to accept such responsibility as an agent of the institution for the convenience of the return of the inmate," the opinion said.

In response to another question, the opinion said the institution should pay the mileage and expense of the escapee's return, unless a complaint is filed as a result of the escape, in which case the costs would be taxable as in other cases.

Federal Judge Authorizes 7-Year Delay In Virginia County's School Integration

Richmond, Va. (AP)—A federal district judge—ordered by a higher court to fix a definite date for desegregation of schools in the "Black Belt" County of Prince Edward—set September, 1965, as a tentative date.

This 7-year delay granted by District Judge Sterling Hutcheson was hailed by Virginia political leaders as a victory. Negro attorneys declined to comment.

National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People attorneys for Negro parents in the case had asked for September of this year as a date for compliance with the Supreme Court's desegregation decree.

The Prince Edward case was one of 5 school segregation cases on which the Supreme Court based its historic 1954 decision calling separate schools unconstitutional. The case has been in Federal District court for implementation ever since.

Judge Hutcheson made it plain the period of delay he specified could be reduced or extended by him "in accordance with what may develop in the future."

While this puts off a showdown in Prince Edward case, 3 other Virginia communities have been ordered to admit Negro children to white schools this September. They are Norfolk, Charlottesville and Arlington County, a populous residential area across the Potomac from Washington, D.C.

Hutcheson said he was fixing the date at 10 years from the 1955 decision by the Supreme Court in which it ordered compliance "with all deliberate speed" with its opinion of the preceding year. Explaining his selection of 10 years, Hutcheson noted the Athenian statesman, Solon, allowed 10 years for the people of Athens to digest the new code of laws he gave them; that the Reconstruction period following the Civil War was about 12 years; and that the failure of prohibition in this country covered about 14 years.

Demo Candidate Brooks Urges Stronger Executive

A stronger executive in Nebraska's state government—that's what Democratic gubernatorial candidates Ralph Brooks stresses in weekend addresses along his campaign trail.

The McCook educator, whose supporters point to his administrative experience as a school superintendent, can be expected to develop this appeal throughout the campaign.

Among his points:

- the function of the chief administrative officer (governor) is to present the machinery of his policy (in the absence of effective law) to the Legislature and "get legislation passed" which will fill the voids of state law.
- enforce or repeal laws (particularly tax laws) or repeal them.
- authority may be delegated; responsibility can never be delegated; the governor must assume responsibility for the actions of the officers of his administration, even when he is not to blame for circumstances beyond his control.

Brooks had this to say in reference to his connections with State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, chairman of the Legislative Tax Investigation Committee:

"If Mr. Carpenter makes a contribution to the tax system of Nebraska, he should deserve the credit. I have nothing to do with it."

"Facts may be used by anyone regardless of who discovered them. I am not running with Carpenter and I am not running against him."

No Program?

On comments that Brooks appears to have no program other than the one now in effect, the Democrat said:

"I am a different rider on a different horse which will go straight down the road and not turn out to pasture."

"The inactivity of enforcement of tax laws has certainly been in evidence by reason of a sudden flurry of interest and publicity to which the public has recently been treated. The new activity came on the heels of a speech I made in David City June 3 (concerning intangible property tax collection)."

"If we continue with the present administration, how do we know it won't return to inactivity in the tax field?"

Longer City School Day Under Study

A longer school day for Lincoln public schools will not be initiated this fall but will come up for study, Schools Supt. Steven Watkins announced.

A lengthened classroom schedule—accomplished by shortening the lunch periods or changing the dismissal hour from 3:15 to 4 p.m. will be considered by the teacher curriculum council for junior and senior high schools.

A trial shortening of the lunch period to 35 minutes at one Lincoln elementary school last year will be reported on at a coming meeting of the Lincoln School Board.

The suggestion for a lengthened school day was made by a 65-person survey team which toured Lincoln schools under State Department of Education sponsorship.

Newborn State Alaska Faces Big Problems—Inflation, Moose, Oil Development, Transportation

(This is the second of a series of 6 on-the-spot articles by Burris Jenkins Jr., to appear in The Star.)

By Burris Jenkins Jr.

Kenai, Alaska — Big and beautiful as she is, for a newborn state Alaska faces problems—big problems.

One is inflation. It hits the visitor in the face at breakfast his first morning: $2.20 for orange juice, bacon and eggs, toast and coffee! (Food costs double up here, partly because much of it is imported by air.)

But this is your day for facing another big problem—oil vs. moose.

To investigate first hand and if necessary look Mr. Moose square in the eye, you plan a trip down the Kenai (pronounced Keen-eye) Peninsula south from Anchorage. You hope to fly down with Ward Gay, bush pilot, but it has started to rain.

You wait in the hangar on Hood Lake with Fergus Hoffman, financial editor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, expert on Alaska and brilliant all-round newsman. Fergus has flown up without sleep during the night to interpret for you the mystery and intrigue which seem to hang over this fabulous land as thick as the storm clouds.

Ignore Weather

Oilmen from 4 rival companies, in raincoats and mackinaws, take off—impervious to weather—in seaplanes and helicopters, loaded with fuel and food for crews in remote unnamed areas where the oil rush is on.

Finally bush-pilot Ward Gay says, "If you want to try it come on."

You strap into the Cessna 180 and taxi to the other end of the lake. So great is private plane traffic on these lakes that there is a tower like a big airport's. Gay gets the clear-for-takeoff and you rise into the rain. It's no use. Over Cook Inlet the sky and slate water where the tide reaches 34 feet become one and Ward turns back.

"You wouldn't see anything in the fog even if we got through," he says. "We'll try again tomorrow."

Fergus suggests renting a car. "There's a road to Kenai just completed—well, almost completed. We can reach there before midnight if a moose or bear doesn't get in the way. It's happened!"

Still Light

It's late when you start down the new Sterling Highway in a rented '58 Chevy, but still light. Even after sundown about 9:30 p.m. it's twilight all night long until sunrise about 2:30 a.m.

Some of the snow peaks on the magnificent Chugach Mountains which surround you are still yellowed with sunlight. The tide is not yet in over the tortured sand flats of the wide inlet of Turnagain Arm on your right.

"Damfools have died out there," Fergus comments. "If the soft sand doesn't swallow them, the 10-foot wall of water coming in with the tide can outrun any man."

A cow moose with calf shows up in the tall grass a quarter mile off to the left. Fergus suggests you walk over to get a better look but you are satisfied with the view from here.

"Moose are sociable animals, in a way," Fergus explains unconvincingly. "Like hoboes, they hang around human habitations looking for handouts or just out of curiosity. That doesn't mean they can't gore you or stab you to death with their front hooves if they get riled."

Belongs to Moose

"Actually most of this western half of the peninsula—the Keani National Moose Range of 2 million acres—belongs to these hump-nosed overgrown bovines, according to the Wild Life Service of the Department of Interior down in Washington. In fact the federal government before statehood owned 99% of all Alaskan real estate—which any Texan will admit is considerable."

"Now, according to 25 oil companies and the Anchorage Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Moose is standing in the way of Alaskan progress and national defense—or rather the government is. The moose doesn't mind.

"It is here — A few miles ahead of us — where Bill Bishop — the big smiling guy you met in the hotel — the one who wouldn't talk — first put a heelmark in the dirt of the Swanson River Unit Number One and said to Richfield Oil Corporation: 'Drill here'."

That was July 23, 1957. That started it. Since then other experimental wells have gone down in Mr. Moose's private backyard — to tap a black gold potential that may rival the San Joaquin Valley in California or even the wells of the Middle East.

It is primarily to try to get a close-up of Drill Rig Number Three that you push on to Kenai.

It is still raining and cold when you pull up at the Spur Motel where you made reservations. The rooms are wood-paneled, clean but very small, with no ventilation unless you leave the door open. Price 10 dollars for a double room.

At breakfast in the local diner you meet Rusty. Bob Atwood, owner of the Anchorage Times, told you she would be a contribution to the landscape. Her name was Helen Jones when she modeled for Pontiac cars back in Toledo.

You must push on up a freshly built 7-mile road (cost $125,000 to the oil companies) and there in a clearing with trucks and trailers is Standard-Richfield's Experimental Well Number Three.

Cordial

Surprisingly the drill director and foreman—Berle and Whitney—are neither suspicious nor hostile. Cordially they show you over the plant, secure in the knowledge that roaring diesels, plunging drills and countless dials reveal nothing to anybody but an expert.

"We can tell you that we have reached 13,300 feet today," Berle tells you. "But we can issue no other information."

Driving away Fergus explains: "What they've discovered with core samples on the way down is their own business. They may have struck an oil layer and gone deeper for a bigger one. I've heard rumors of somebody around here hitting an oil sand zone over 800 feet—which is fantastic, if true."

The cafe in Ninilchik is filled with big silent oilmen and noisy beer-drinking fishermen. Here you are at the end of nowhere but there is a juke box. Somebody puts in a coin. You guessed it—"Purple People Eaters." Alaska has arrived . . .

You drive hard back to Anchorage for your date with the bush pilot and a close-up of Problem Number Three — the fishing industry. . .

Afternoon Wedding

MRS. DALE M. ANDERSON

The marriage of Miss Helen Louise Meldrum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Meldrum of Buffalo, Wyo., to Dale M. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard T. Anderson of Holdrege, was solemnized at a 4 o'clock service on Monday afternoon, Aug. 4, at St. Luke's Church, Episcopal, in Buffalo. The Rev. Raymond C. Knapp solemnized the double ring ceremony.

Miss Ann Stebbins of Lincoln was her cousin's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Prudence Morrow of Omaha, and Miss Barbara Doop. Their frocks, designed in the princess mode, were of delft blue silk organza and lace, and their costumes were completed with brief veils held in place with crowns of blue Swiss braid. Each carried a white basket of pink and white sweetheart roses with puffs of blue tulle. Roger Anderson of Holdrege served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Carl Zimmerman of Topeka, Kan., and Wayne Ganow of Lincoln.

The bride chose for her wedding a gown of silk thread embroidery over sheer net and satin in the ice-blue tone. Jeweled carved flowerettes contoured the off-shoulder neckline, which slipped into brief sleeves, and the flowerettes, touched with iridescent sequins and pearls, were repeated to center the floral sprays of silk thread embroidery which patterned the fitted bodice and the wide skirt, worn over lace ruffles, which extended into a chapel train. Her ice-blue veil of illusion was held to the head with a demi-hat of matching lace and jeweled rosettes, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and Stephanotis.

After Aug. 15, Mr. Anderson and his bride will reside at 1945 D St., Lincoln.

An August bride-elect, Miss Jean Hueftle, was honored on Saturday, Aug. 2, at a bridge luncheon given by Miss Pat Alvord. The 1 o'clock affair was held at Hillcrest Country Club, and during the informal afternoon a miscellaneous shower was presented to the honoree.

The Star In Suburbia

EASTRIDGE
Although vacations still lead the news parade in Eastridge, there are festive parties and other activities to talk about this morning.

Included among the recent guests in Eastridge were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hansen and their two sons, Dickie and David, who drove from Columbus last Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ellickson and their three children, Diane, Pat and Randy.

And vacation-bound last Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Marion Rozmarin and their three children, Marvin, George and Tom. The family will be gone for three weeks during which time they will tour Estes Park, Denver and Colorado Springs, Colo.

Heard that Miss Sonya Harding recently arrived at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Harding, after some careering in Colorado. Miss Harding will visit her parents until the middle of September when she will begin her sophomore year at the University of Colorado at Boulder.

Skipping now to the younger generation we hear that Miss Pamela James, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill James of Bellevue, had a gay time last week while visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Snook.

And a young hostess last Thursday was Miss Cheryl McQuillen who entertained at a pre-school "get acquainted" party for a number of her eighth grade classmates at St. Teresa's School. The group gathered for an evening swimming party at Eastridge Pool after which they enjoyed dancing and a spaghetti dinner at the home of Cheryl's parents, Maj. and Mrs. Norman McQuillen.

The guest list included Sharon Haman, Marsha Johnson, Mary Pat Hanigan, Sarasue Sullivan, Nona Mae Rogers, Ann Higgins, Sharon Hauser, Pat Ryan, Lois Young, Toni Dwyer, John

Strope, Phil Osterholm, Tommy McGovern, Bob Byington, Joe Miller, Paul Witt, Mike Laughlin, Tim Wickham and George Rozmarin.

And mention of the McQuillen family brings to mind their holiday trip. Maj. and Mrs. McQuillen and their children, Cheryl, Donna, Robin, Keith, Bryan, Dale and Colleen left on Friday evening—so we understand—for New York on a two-week vacation. The family will visit Maj. McQuillen's brothers and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McQuillen and Mr. and Mrs. Harold McQuillen, at Buffalo, N.Y., and will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Craddock at Floral Park, Long Island, N.Y.

Back home from a recent vacation are Maj. and Mrs. Howard Rose and their children, Kenneth, Karen and Les, who spent a week in Kentucky.

Two Possible 1960 Presidential Race Hopefuls Candidates In State Primaries Today

The Lincoln Star 11
Tuesday, August 5, 1958

By The Associated Press
Two men who may figure in the 1960 presidential picture—Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri—are among candidates in primary elections Tuesday.

Both these top Democrats were heavy favorites on election eve to win renomination, Williams for an unprecedented 6th term.

Primaries are being held in West Virginia and Kansas, too, in addition to Michigan and Missouri. Here is a state-by-state summary:

MISSOURI
Symington, who was Secretary of the Air Force under former President Harry S. Truman and who has been talked of by Truman and others for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960, has only nominal opposition for renomination.

His opponents are Lamar W. Dye of Kansas City, a former Republican, and Lawrence L. Hastings of Aurora, a retired Veterans Administration employee.

Missouri Republicans will choose among 4 seeking the GOP nomination to run against Symington. The 2 leaders are Miss Hazel Parker, Sedalia lawyer who headed the National Association of Business & Professional Women, and Homer S. Cotton, St. Louis businessman.

Missourians will also nominate for 11 U.S. House seats.

MICHIGAN
Williams is opposed for renomination by William L. Johnson, who operates a radio station at Ironwood. The governor has hardly bothered to campaign.

Williams, who draws much of his political strength from organized labor, was asked earlier this year about efforts of some of his friends to get him into the next presidential campaign.

"They might not have to push me very hard," he said.

On the Republican side, there is no opposition to the renomination of top office holders, including Sen. Charles E. Potter.

Michigan voters will also nominate candidates for 18 House seats.

WEST VIRGINIA
The 2 Republican incumbent senators, Chapman Revercomb and John D. Hoblitzell, are unopposed for renomination.

Revercomb is running for another 6-year term and Hoblitzell for the nomination for the remaining 2 years of the term.

ACTION COMPLETE
Washington (AP)—House passage completed Congress' action on a bill authorizing $47,800,000 for facilities for the new civilian space agency, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The bill authorizes the full sum sought by President Eisenhower.

The measure provides for a 24½-million-dollar expansion of national advisory committee for aeronautics facilities at Wallops Island, Va., and for buying of land in that area.

KANSAS
Gov. George Docking, the first Democrat to be elected governor in 20 years, is unopposed for renomination.

Five Republicans have been campaigning for the GOP nomination to oppose Docking.

The 5: Former Gov. Fred Hall, who was denied renomination in 1956; Clyde Reed Jr., Parsons publisher whose father was a senator; John S. Stevens, Wichita city commissioner; Walter Cherry, Galena farmer-businessman, and Harvey Crouch, Minneola farmer-teacher.

Political forecasters figured Hall and Reed would run a close race, with Reed having the edge because of his strong support from the party organization.

Kansans will also nominate for 6 House seats.

Board Yacht
Southampton, England (AP)—The Prince of Wales and his father Prince Philip boarded the royal yacht Britannia to spend a couple of days watching the Cowes Regatta off the isle of Wight.

Queen Elizabeth II and Princess Anne will join them Thursday for a 12-day cruise up the west coast of Britain.

Less Lonely Now
Lucky Lake, Sask. (AP)—Ralph Hagemeister has company now on his otherwise lonely job of road grading.

Two swallows built a nest in the cab of his machine. Where Hagemeister goes, the swallows follow.

Terry Wants Junior Colleges Put Under State's Control

Sen. Terry Carpenter said Monday he will advocate that public junior colleges in Nebraska, located at Scottsbluff, McCook, Norfolk and Fairbury, be put under the State Normal Board and become part of state government.

Carpenter said he believes the 4 junior colleges, now supported by the school districts in which they are located, "should be the responsibility of the entire state."

The Scottsbluff senator declared, "All of the people of Nebraska should have the responsibility for higher education in our state."

Stating that he is a "friend of education," Carpenter said he is "heartily in favor" of placing the junior colleges under the control of the State Normal Board which now governs the state's 4 teachers colleges at Peru, Wayne, Kearney and Chadron.

Enrollments

Their enrollments for the past year ranged from about 212 at Fairbury, to 328 at Norfolk. McCook had 283 students and Scottsbluff, the only one with an enrollment drop under 1956, had 311 students.

In addition to tuitions and fees, the school districts in which they are located must issue a mill levy to make up the balance of their budgets.

Scottsbluff set a 4.39 mill levy in 1957 to raise about $102,000 of the school's total budget of $131,560.

McCook School District issued a 5.50 mill levy to raise $75 per semester, and residents were charged $37.50 for each semester.

Fairbury charged all students $60 each semester.

Not Wanted

Rabat, Morocco (AP)—Premier Ahmed Balafrej said Morocco has a firm desire to see all foreign troops leave.

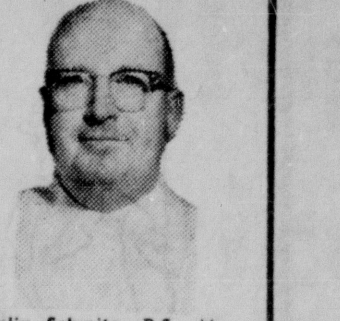

There are 15,000 American troops and naval personnel in Morocco, as well as 28,000 French troops and 30,000 Spanish troops.

The Americans operate 4 Strategic Air Force bases and one naval base here.

$50,000 of the school's $89,000 budget for 1957.

Fairbury's mill levy for the junior college was 4.38 in 1957 to raise about $33,000 of the total budget of $85,000.

Norfolk School District issued a mill levy of 3.44 mills to raise $63,000 of the 1957 budget of $80,000.

WARNER WAS THE ONE
Know who really said "Everybody talks about the weather, but nobody ever does anything about it"? Gent by the name of Charles Dudley Warner included it in an editorial in the HARTFORD (Conn.) COURANT in 1890. Mr. Warner, you'd be surprised today. The gas clothes dryer has done something about the weather!

No more grabbing for the wash when the rain starts. No more sooty laundry on a windy day. You can laugh at the weather when you own a gas clothes dryer. And save money on family clothing bills, too! Ask your local gas company or gas appliance dealer.

About 1900 somebody dismantled a temple... and found a secret pipe carrying natural gas! Nothing secret about the pipelines that bring natural gas to your local gas company. GLAZED PEARS A LA MODE
Here's a quick, delicious party dessert. Takes just 10 minutes to prepare, says Mrs. Georgia L. Thaves, Algona, Iowa! Melt 1 cup red currant jelly in skillet; place 6 cooked or canned pear halves in melted jelly. Simmer 7 to 8 minutes. Baste and turn till well-glazed. Pour off remaining jelly and save. While pears chill in your refrigerator, add ½ cup orange juice and 1 tsp. grated orange peel to jelly. Cool it, too. Put a pear in each serving dish. Top with vanilla ice cream and that luscious jelly-orange sauce. Serves six.

Optimists Fall In 11th Despite Sieck's 1-Hitter

Lincoln Star Special
Hastings — Keith Sieck hurled 10 innings of no-hit baseball, but he and the Lincoln Optimists lost a 5-2 decision in 11 innings to Hastings in the Area C Junior Legion tournament here Monday night.

A walk, a hit batsmen, and 3 of 8 Optimists' errors during the night, plus the lone hit off Sieck, a single by Jim Wiegert, gave Hastings 3 runs in the top of the 11th.

Gary England held Lincoln scoreless in the bottom of the 11th to get his 5th win in 9 decisions. England struck out 15, walked 3, and yielded 6 hits.

Hastings scored twice in the 7th on a walk, 3 errors and a sacrifice, but Lincoln matched that in its half of the inning on a walk, 2 sacrifices, an error and a single by George Mechling.

Sieck, who now has a 5-1 record while the Optimists are 18-2, struck out 14 and issued 6 walks.

The Optimists will meet York at 8:30 tonight for the right to meet Hastings in the tourney final. Hastings has a 20-15 record now.

With Ron Speer

Star Sports Staff Writer

Tom Gillaspie, genial Lincoln Southeast football coach, is convinced of the importance of coaching clinics.

He has just returned from a 4-day affair in Santa Barbara, Calif., where he was tutored by the nation's best, including Bear Bryant of Alabama, Phil Dickens of Indiana,

a Jim Broyles of Arkansas and numerous others.

After attending football lectures and football movies from 9 a.m. until 10 p.m.

for 4 days, the straw-haired Gillaspie has made a drastic change in his plans for the Southeast gridders this fall.

"I'm going to use a multiple offense

this fall, instead of the T and Split-T," he said Monday. "After watching movies of the top college teams in the country, and listening to all those talks by some real good coaches, I am convinced that the defense has caught up with the T-formation.

"To do the job right, I think coaches will have to have even more variety than we have used in the past, and that's why I'm switching to the multiple offense."

During his stay at Santa Barbara Gillaspie roomed with Hayden Fry, grid coach of Odessa (Tex.) High School.

"High school football in Texas is phenomenal. Odessa is a city a lot like Lincoln, 3 or 4 large high schools. Fry has

6 assistant coaches, and when I asked him how many classes he taught he said, 'How many classes . . . Hell,

I'm the football coach."

The Odessa schools scout each opponent 3 times before they meet, and exchange 2 films with mutual opponents,

Gillaspie said. For a game more than 50 miles away—and most games in Texas are—the schools charter airplanes for the entire squad.

Incidentally, Nebraska prep coaches will be attending a clinic of their own in the near future. The Nebraska Coaching School will be held August 11-13.

Don't count Gene Chadwell, 1956 city golfing champ, out of the race for this year's crown in the city meet which kicks off next Monday at LCC.

The veteran Hillcrest swinger won the Mid-State tourney at Kearney hands down Sunday in a field which included some of Nebraska's top amateurs.

Although he may have 20 years and more on some of the younger contenders, Gene is still quite a battler.

putt on the 69th hole as the clinch, captured the $50,000

Chicago Open Monday with a closing 72 for a 72-hole total of 272. 8 under par.

Venturi, leader all the way in the chase for a $9,000 1st prize, won by a one stroke

over a pair of fast-finishers,

veterans Jackie Burke and Julius Boros.

Burke, who finished with a 70, missing an 18 footer by inches for a possible tie, and Boros, with the day's best closing round, 65, each collected $3,800 for their 273 to tal.

Three players tied for 3rd,

South African Gary Player,

Bob Rosburg and J. C. Goosie, each notched 2 strokes behind Venturi.

Although there was a lot of pressure as Venturi and

Burke hit the 72nd green in the day's last threesome, the tourney was settled when

Venturi stroked his 60-footer for a bird on the par 4 69th.

As an official stepped off

the putt at 60 feet, the slim

27-year-old San Francisco pro said "I'd like to stop off that putt myself—I think it must have been 70 feet."

AGGRAVATED ANKLE RETIRES '57 HORSE OF YEAR

Injury Ends Bold Ruler's Career

Saratoga Springs, N.Y. (AP)—The scintillating racing career of Bold Ruler, horse of the year in 1957, has ended.

An ankle injury which caused him to miss the rich winter races in Florida this year, and possibly was aggravated in the Brooklyn Handicap July 2, or in training, has resulted in the decision of Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons to retire the great thoroughbred.

"As far as I am concerned he's run for the last time," said the 84-year-old trainer for Mrs. H. C.

Phipps, owner of Wheatley Stable.

"I could probably get him back in the races late in the fall but we would have missed the races we wanted to run in at Belmont Park (the $100,000 Woodward Sept. 27 and the Jockey Club Gold Cup Oct. 18). But he has to be stopped in his training now because of the ankle and my feeling is that he's too good a horse to take chances with, so we'll stop him for good now."

Mr. Fitz said he had talked with Ogden Phipps, son of the owner, who agreed the best thing to do was to send him to the Claiborne Farm

The report is scheduled to be considered by the Senate interior committee Tuesday.

Both the Senate and House also must approve the resolution.

Rep. Phil Weaver (R-Nebr.), author of the House resolution, said he didn't expect any funds for construction of the $10-million project this session. But he added:

"This will give use something tangible to use as a basis for securing an appropriation next year."

Congressional approval of the report was required because of earlier stipulation that no funds could be appropriated until such action was taken.

The proposed dam and reservoir would be constructed near McCook, Neb.

Judge Munday Plans To Retire Aug. 16, On Bench 25 Years

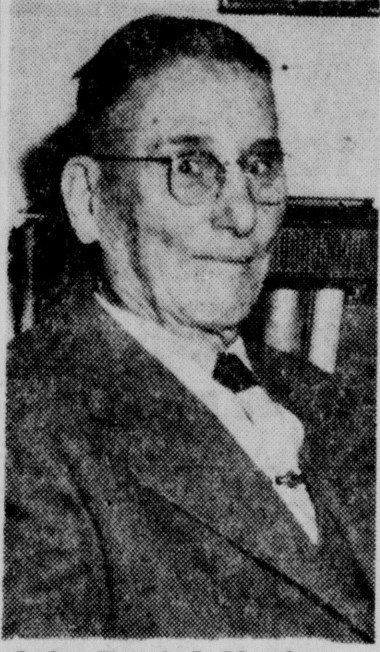

Red Cloud, Neb. (AP)—District Judge Frank J. Munday has announced he will retire from the bench Aug. 16, after 25 years on the bench.

Judge Munday said he has submitted his application for retirement to the State Board of Educational Lands and funds and has informed Gov. Victor E. Anderson of his decision. Anderson will have to appoint a successor to Judge Munday to complete the term which expires in January, 1961.

Judge Munday was appointed district judge in June, 1933, by then Gov. Charles Bryan, and subsequently has been elected to 6 4-year terms in the Tenth district, which includes Adams, Clay, Franklin, Harlan, Kearney, Phelps and Webster Counties.

Judge Munday, born Aug. 30, 1878, in Illinois came to Nebraska with his parents to live in a sod house in 1884. They settled on the Harlan-Furnas county line, and then moved into Furnas County.

Judge Munday attended rural schools and was graduated from Peru State Normal, after which he was superintendent of schools at Cambridge, and for 4 years between 1906 and 1910 was Furnas County Superintendent of schools. He was graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1911 and from the University's college of law in 1912. He practiced law in Red Cloud for 21 years.

Judge Munday said he is retiring while his health is good so that he may have more time for his family and for activities in which he has long been interested.

Judge Munday and his wife celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in March of this year. They will continue to live in Red Cloud.

Seeks Recommendations
Gov. Victor Anderson said he normally asks the district organization of the State Bar Assn. for recommendations when confronted with the need to appoint a district judge.

Anderson said Monday he had not yet received Judge Munday's resignation.

Anderson said he seeks bar association recommendations in such cases if there is a district bar organization in existence in the district.

He said he followed this procedure in a recent judicial appointment at Grand Island.

Colombia Group Will Tour State ... Wheat Mission

A 4-man wheat mission from Colombia, South America, 4th in a series of 5 foreign wheat missions to visit Nebraska this summer, will tour the state Aug. 6-11.

These groups are sponsored by the Nebraska Wheat Growers Association, the Nebraska and Kansas Wheat Commissions and the Foreign Agricultural Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, and are composed of key government and industry officials from wheat importing countries. They are being brought to this country to acquaint them with the high quality of Great Plains wheat in an attempt to create additional market outlets.

The Colombian delegation will arrive in Omaha, Wednesday, and will visit the Omaha Grain Exchange, a bakery and Nebraska Consolidated Mills Cereal Laboratory.

On Aug. 7, the group will observe grain storage facilities at the Judd Burkhardt farm at Fairbury and the Clyde Gewacke farm at Iowa. Other stops will be made to observe storage facilities at elevators in Fairmont and Hastings.

The delegation will be routed through Edison, and will visit the Earl Lester farm, and from there to McCook for a tour of the wheat country in Red Willow County. In addition to elevator and farm stops near McCook, they will attend the Red Willow County Fair. Wheat grower representatives from Chase and Perkins counties will make tour arrangements for the delegation in that area.

Going To Colorado

On Monday, Aug. 11, the visitors will be greeted by the Colorado Wheat Administrative Committee who will sponsor the Colorado visit.

From Colorado, the group will travel through Kansas, visit the Board of Trade in Chicago, the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, and leave this country to return to Colombia on Aug. 25.

Dr. Townsend In G.I. Hospital

Grand Island, Neb. (AP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, 93, Los Angeles said he plans to leave Tuesday to meet with Townsend clubs in Colorado to "spark up enthusiasm" for his old age pension program.

Dr. Townsend said he "caught a chill" while passing through Grand Island en route to Colorado and went to the St. Francis Hospital for treatment. His physician said he is in good condition and probably will be released Tuesday.

Dr. Townsend said a modification of his original Townsend plan which called for $200 a month pension for persons over 60, now is before Congress in the form of an amendment to the Social Security act. This modification calls for a sales tax, returns from which would go into a special fund for the aged.

South Central Wheat Yields Declared Best Despite Long Delayed Harvesting

Hastings, Neb. (P)—South central Nebraska's wheat harvest, lasting into August, has been described as the best in terms of yield but the worst in terms of weather.

Most of the harvest was over at the start of this week, but some farmers had uncut areas still standing, in hopes the weather would dry them up a little.

Protein content of the grain was low this year and test weights on wheat cut following the rains dropped as low as 55 pounds in some cases.

Elevator men estimated the Adams County wheat yield at 35 bushels. In Beaver City, County Agent Ralph Fisher estimated the county yield at 35 bushels and Verle Thomas of Ely Grain Co., Red Cloud, said the Webster County average would be around 30 bushels per acre.

Thayer County's average will be close to 40 bushels, Claude Rowley of the Rowley Grain Co. at Hebron estimated. Other reports gave Kearney County a 35-bushel average, Phelps 35 plus, Franklin 30, Clay 35, Gosper 30 and Fillmore 40.

Tractor Kills Crofton Man

Crofton, Neb. (P)—A Crofton, Neb., farmer died in a tractor mishap.

Elton Bartz, about 50, was found dead beneath the overturned vehicle. He had been pulling a load of grain. The tractor apparently flipped on a hill in a field and he was pinned beneath.

Loses Part Of Finger

Brunswick, Neb. — Rohn Olson, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Malvan Olson, lost part of a finger while his father was using a hack saw to cut steel. The father was unaware the child had placed his left hand too close to the saw until the mishap occurred.

$76,200,000 Gas Project Is Canceled

Chicago (P)—Peoples Gas Light & Coke Co. announced Monday cancellation of $76,200,000 project to bring an additional 485,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily to the Chicago area from Nebraska.

The company said its contract with Natural Gas Pipeline Co. of America and the Colorado Interstate Gas Co. to transmit the gas 416 miles from Beatrice, Neb., to Joliet was dissolved by mutual agreement.

Colorado Interstate would have supplied Natural Gas pipeline. People's long distance pipeline subsidiary, with the additional gas at the pipeline firm's western terminus at Beatrice.

A Peoples spokesman gave reasons for the cancellation.

He said failure of the Federal Power Commission to give a decision on the project, pending before it since February, 1956, kept the company from knowing where it stood.

A second reason was the so-called Memphis case in which the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia ruled that natural gas suppliers could not raise rates without customers' consent. The ruling is up for Supreme Court review.

The Memphis decision has held up many gas rate cases including several involving Colorado Interstate. This, the spokesman said, further clouded the project.

UAL Traffic Hits Record At Omaha

Omaha (P)—United Airlines traffic at Omaha reached a record level in the first half of 1958. C. M. Sharrar, district sales manager, reported.

Sharrar said 169,697 passengers boarded or deplaned from United flights here, 19% more than in the same period a year ago. Air mail shipments increased 5%, but combined express and freight shipments were off 10%.

Hay Fever Patients now open Nose-Sinus Zone with New 3-Layer Tablet

Clear, free breathing restored in minutes as congested nasal zone is decongested—stops sneezing, watery, itching eyes

Chicago, Ill. (Special) Observers here are hailing a remarkable new advance against the most unrelenting misery of hay fever—congestion in the nose-sinus zone.

A way has been found to decongest this congestion. This is the central fact which has aroused so much interest on the part of hay fever sufferers who have never found satisfactory relief from other medications.

Up to now, nose drops, eye drops, inhalers, sprays and antihistamines have given some measure of relief. But today you can expect much more complete comfort. This new compound reaches all the congested nasal areas from all sides, through the blood stream. It opens stuffed-up, blocked nasal passages. Free breathing is restored in minutes. Stops unpleasant sneezing; watery, itching eyes are cleared.

New Tablet Discovery

It took a new kind of tablet—made in three separate layers —to combine the special ingredients which make this formula so amazingly effective. Among them is a new decongestant substance so effective it has become the single ingredient most prescribed by doctors for relief of congestion in the nose-sinus area.

Available without Prescription Now available without prescription—this new 3-layer tablet is called Dristan®. Its unique combination of ingredients—(1) opens up blocked breathing, (2) stops unpleasant sneezing, (3) clears red, watery, itching eyes. At the same time, Dristan helps the body meet the great demands put upon it by the stress and strain of hay fever, and bolsters the body's resistance to infection.

Hay fever sufferers who want faster, more complete relief than they have ever before obtained are advised to try Dristan-Decongestant Tablets—satisfaction guaranteed, or money refunded.
